

We announce that with effect from the 1st March 2022 Mike Royal, our Co-CEO, will be leaving Cinnamon to take up the role of General Secretary of Churches Together England.

This is a hugely significant position, and we congratulate Mike and wish him every success as he takes up this responsibility.

We would also thank him, in advance, for his work in helping to get Cinnamon to the significant place it is today in the life of our churches and amongst the faith based charitable sector in our Nation. We would not be where we are today without his drive, commitment, and wisdom.

There is good time to plan for the future and the handover of his responsibilities which we will announce in due course.

Please pray for Mike as he leaves us and for wisdom in our planning for the future.
